The Rector writes:

The month of August is often referred to as 'the silly season', due in part at least to the shortage of gripping news and the resulting search for stories however bizarre. Not this year! August 2011 will be remembered for a long time to come for the dreadful and significant events in major cities of our land.

What do we make of what happened during the riots? There has been much talk of bad behaviour, society having no moral compass, sentencing, engaging with communities and how to ensure this doesn't happen again. No doubt we will have our own points of view about many of these issues.

In the face of such events, it is frighteningly easy to think totally negatively about everything. I overheard such a comment, spoken to anyone who would listen. 'Our country is in melt-down!' were the words that cut the air. If we agree, then perhaps this is the wake-up call. Do something about it!

However, it's hard to know what to do. Solutions are not obvious. The challenges of rural and urban living have common threads no doubt, but day-to-day life is very different in city, town and country. Just the beauty of our surroundings can make a positive difference.

Actually, when we stop to think seriously about the issues we face, there are many positive things which must not be overlooked. Generosity and neighbourliness goes on all the time. People do look out for one another. Support for the elderly and infirm, the sick and bereaved happens in our communities. We might have to watch the pennies rather more now than previously, but we rarely have to go without. People give of their time and their talents in support of the things they hold dear.

For the present, perhaps all we can do is to pray for those who make decisions which affect us all, for the victims of violence and for the perpetrators.

Norma Payne

The Church of England Diocese of Salisbury Consultation over Bishop of Ramsbury

The Dean of Salisbury, the Very Reverend June Osborne, is chairing an Advisory Group responsible for a wide-ranging consultation across the Diocese of Salisbury: their aim is to provide a report to the Bishop of Salisbury, the Right Revd Nick Holtham, which will help him decide whether there should be a new Bishop of Ramsbury. There have been bishops of Ramsbury since 1974 who, alongside the bishops of Sherborne, have assisted the Bishop of Salisbury in his ministry. The last Bishop of Ramsbury, Stephen Conway, left in December 2010 to become Bishop of Ely. Under a new nationally agreed Church of England process, when a suffragan or area See becomes vacant a diocesan bishop must first consult his own Diocese before making a decision to reappoint. But if he does wish to proceed he must now make an application to the national Dioceses Commission. The process seeks to assess the roles of the Archdeacons in the Diocese as well as the suffragan bishops of Ramsbury and Sherborne. This is especially appropriate in the light of the recent announcement that the Archdeacon of Wilts John Wraw is to leave the Diocese in December to become Bishop of Bradwell. Consultees will include community and council leaders, politicians, businesspeople, the health, education, emergency and armed services, and representatives from the voluntary sector.

There will be five consultations for licensed ministers and laity in September throughout the Diocese, to which all are welcome. The nearest to this parish is on Monday 19th September 4.00 – 5.30pm at the Diocesan Education Centre, Devizes Road, Salisbury, SP2 9LY. Please telephone 01380 729808 to inform the Ramsbury Office of attendance to assist with seating and catering. Please ask about access at the Diocesan Education Centre. Further details about how to find the venues for the consultations can be downloaded from the website at www.salisbury.anglican.org

Questions will include:

- How do you encounter bishops and archdeacons?
- In what way does a bishop or archdeacon add to the life of Wiltshire and Dorset, and to national life?
- What more might you want from them?
- Should a Bishop of Ramsbury be appointed?

The Diocesan Secretary, Mrs Lucinda Herklots, will welcome written responses by letter to Church House, Crane Street, Salisbury SP1 2QB or email by 29th September to lucinda.herklots@salisbury.anglican.org

Dean Osborne said: "This consultation aims to give both the Diocesan and civic communities a full opportunity to express its hopes about the future of the ministry of bishops and archdeacons in this diocese. This work is of great im-

It has been feeling more like September than August; quite autumnal. The only thing missing is the mist. We have mellow fruitfulness, the apple tree behind the house has produced much fruit, it is small and fallen and rotting on the ground attracting the blackbirds. July seemed to disappear very quickly. Most of the birds have finished breeding and are moulting; the garden is festooned with feathers and the water baths are in great demand. I try and change the water regularly, finding lots of discarded feathers floating in the water. During their moult birds are more vulnerable and tend to become very secretive, disappearing from view. I had not seen a robin for several weeks until the last few days, and today I spotted a wren for the first time in a while. The tree sparrows in the Scots pine box finally fledged around about the 22nd of July, the apple tree box fledging at the same time with their third and last brood. Now I am just seeing the odd tree sparrow in the garden; once they have bred they tend to go off into the countryside. House sparrow numbers in the garden are reduced and instead we have starlings; several families visiting the feeders and enjoying communal baths. You know when they are about by the noise and mess! I recently watched a nuthatch taking sunflower hearts away and storing them under the bark of the acacia tree for the winter, it too thinks it feels like September! The sparrowhawk has been making regular visits to the garden taking young starlings and blackbirds. The other day I heard the alarm calls of the swallows and house martins, you can almost hear them shouting "sparrowhawk! sparrowhawk!" I looked up to see the hawk fly at right angles to me with its talons outstretched, I ran to the bird feeders but all was very quiet, it always is after a hawk visit. We have also had a hobby visiting attracted by the good numbers of house martins and swallows. One day I saw it close by, it changed direction overhead when it saw me and I heard the amazing sounding 'whoosh' from air turbulence over its wings as it flew past. A squirrel visited the garden recently too, possibly a young one looking for a new territory. The wire of the peanut feeder was nibbled through, coincidence or not? Early one morning when I came downstairs to make the tea, I heard a loud tapping sound. I thought it was coming from the workshop at first and then realised it was a young song thrush smashing open a snail on the concrete slabs under the bird feeders. It was very persistent and finally got its reward; I found the empty shell later.

We have had several walks in Southleigh Woods and around Shearwater and seen silver-washed fritillary butterflies - gorgeous. On the 2nd August, a lovely sunny day, when walking along Cannimore Lane I saw common blues, speckled woods, peacocks, commas, red admirals and more silver-washed fritillaries, but these good butterfly days have been few this year. I've only seen one painted lady, and when I did the Big Butterfly Count I was very disappointed with the number I saw, just 9, and that was standing in amongst several buddleia bushes. When walking through Southleigh Woods we just managed to glimpse a young fawn standing deep in the wood well camouflaged in the dapple shade. Seconds later we realised that the doe was standing nearby.

Where have you been?

The Beckford Arms, Fonthill Gifford
01747 870385; www.beckfordarms.com

As some of you may know, The Beckford Arms is open again. It re-opened on 18th July, a year to the day since the fire which caused so much damage. It has been fully restored to its former glory with subtle sage and grey Farrow and Ball-esque shades, helping to create a light and peaceful atmosphere. After several days of entertaining, and being entertained by, family members and clearing up after their departure, we thought we needed to give ourselves a treat. However a Sunday evening is not usually the ideal evening to go out for a meal but having no food left and no energy to prepare anything we decided to go out anyway. We are so glad that we did. Although it was a Sunday evening there were quite a few people in the Beckford Arms, in the bar, the restaurant and the garden. Also in the sitting room, people were gathering for the Sunday evening film. We opted to eat in the bar so that we could choose from either the bar or restaurant menu. I had excellent fish and chips from the bar menu whilst my husband opted for steak from the restaurant menu. We both found our meals delicious and we were well served by a young and attentive staff. The pub became busier and busier with people coming in to have a drink before a meal or to recharge glasses during the film interval but it didn't get too noisy and we liked the feeling of bustle around us when we had expected a fairly empty pub. We found the choice of wine by the glass and the quality of it very good; I enjoyed a citrusy Sauvignon Blanc whilst my husband's mellow Argentinean Malbec was very pleasing. This is an attractive pub with some excellent food and varied age range of clientele. I would certainly recommend it.

If you have somewhere you would like to recommend or comments to pass on, please send them with suggestions to me by email at farthings.kd@btinternet.com or through my letter box at Farthings, Kingston Deverill.

My Birthday Visit to Buckingham Palace

I would like to thank Janet Budgen for arranging my day out to Buckingham Palace. Pat Woods, Julie Wallder, Janet and myself got the train to Waterloo at 9.30 am and we were going past Big Ben as it struck 12.00 o'clock, mid-day. We arrived at the Palace just as the soldiers were marching off after changing the Guard. We then went on to the Queen's Gallery and the Mews, where we saw all the wonderful carriages, including the 'Golden State Coach'. Then the highlight of the trip, the visit to the actual Palace where we saw the Queen's Faberge Collection, Kate's Wedding Dress, her shoes, ear-rings, tiara, bouquet and cake. The dress was absolutely beautiful. The rooms, paintings and furniture in the Palace are exquisite. We finished the tour with a Cream Tea in the garden. We then travelled back to Waterloo in a 'London black cab' for the train home, after an absolutely wonderful day. Thank you all, once again, for my lovely 80th Birthday celebrations which I shall never forget.

Longbridge Deverill and Crockerton Parish Council

Community Emergency Plan

The Parish Council are in the process of producing a Community Emergency Plan for the villages of Longbridge Deverill, Hill Deverill and Crockerton. Should there be a major flood or other incident in our area, the plan will be used to assist the main emergency services with any local resources or skills available. We are especially looking for people with medical skills, (doctors /nurses/first aiders/) and Firefighters, Policemen, etc. who live in the villages to include in the information. We also need to include villagers with resources such as tractors, 4 wheel drive vehicles, generators, chainsaws etc. If there are any licensed radio amateurs living locally it would be helpful to know. If you feel that you could help and would be willing to have your name and landline number on the Emergency Plan, please advise the Parish Clerk, Mrs Helen Few, on 840119 or hkfew@hotmail.com. Any assistance would be gratefully appreciated.

Our next meeting at Longbridge Deverill Village Hall is on Monday 5th September at 7.30 and is, as usual, open to the public.

Bus to Salisbury

Is everyone aware that there is a bus service from Longbridge Deverill to Salisbury every Tuesday? It picks up at Londi's Garage at 9.45 am and departs Salisbury again at 1.45 pm, giving passengers about 4 hours for shopping, sightseeing etc. The bus is usually able to park very centrally, in front of Marks & Spencer - very convenient for shops and market - so that shopping can be put onto the bus which means not struggling around with heavy bags! It is great not having to cope with Salisbury traffic, parking or the problem of carrying purchases around and then having to get them back to Park & Ride. With cuts to services looming, it would be a pity to lose this one just because residents are not aware of what is really a most convenient way to visit our nearest comprehensive shopping centre.

Working together to recycle better

Residents in Wiltshire will have recently received information through the door about the new waste and recycling collection service, which is being rolled out across the county from October 2011 through to Spring 2012. Here in the west of the county we will receive a new fortnightly kerbside recycling collection of plastic bottles and cardboard. Each household will receive a collection calendar and instructional leaflet through the post explaining the service in more detail shortly before the blue lidded bins for plastic bottles and cardboard are delivered. Your blue lidded bin will be delivered between 3rd October and 28th October. For those residents who have a bag collection at the moment, you will receive two new re-useable bags for this service, instead of a bin. Please note plastic bottles and cardboard can be mixed in the bags. Please be aware that there may be changes to the day and/or week that your household waste and garden waste are collected. You will be notified by post if your day and/or week are changing. If you have not received your blue lidded bin or re-usable bags by 31st October 2011 please contact us on 0300 456 0102 or email wasteandrecycling@wiltshire.gov.uk

Have you registered your septic tank yet?

If your home has a septic tank or a package sewage treatment plant, then under regulations that came in last year you need to register the system with the Environment Agency (EA) or have an environmental permit by January 2012. If properly managed, most of these systems do not cause problems, but if they are poorly designed, installed or managed, the discharge from them can damage the environment. Domestic wastewater can contain substances that are potentially harmful to human health and the environment. If you use the internet go to
